We're a data plus advertising company. Before we write a single line of copy, we study how people actually choose, think and behave with a product or service like yours. That's what tells us what will actually work, not what's trending this week.

PAGE 2: WHAT WE DO

What We Do

HEADLINE

We start with your consumer.

INTRO

We're a data plus advertising company. Every project we take on begins the same way, by understanding your consumer before anything else gets built.

Our Process

Step One: We Look At The Data

We start by getting into real data and real behaviour, not internal assumptions about who your customer is or what they want.

Step Two: We Find What Matters

From that data we pull out the pattern that actually explains why people buy your product, or don't. That becomes the one truth everything else is built on.

Step Three: We Build The Strategy

AI helps us move through this fast, but every strategic call on your brand is made by our team, not a machine.

What This Looks Like In Practice

This process runs behind everything we do for a client. That includes brand strategy and identity, always on social, paid influencer and performance campaigns, and the website that has to carry all of it. We don't split the brand side from the growth side. One team runs both, so nothing gets built apart from everything else.

Who We Are

HEADLINE

Why we're called Corn & Cheese Media.

Corn is raw, pulled straight from the ground. It's the real, unfiltered evidence of how people actually think, choose and behave.

Cheese is crafted using that same raw material, transformed through time and skill into something richer than where it started. It's strategy, design and creative judgement.

On their own, both are ordinary. Put together, they become something people can't leave alone. That's the only kind of brand building we do. Insight and craft, fused into one process, not split across two departments.

A Note, Directly From Us

We started Corn & Cheese Media because we kept watching good businesses hire marketing before they'd earned the right to be understood.

Every founder we respect makes decisions on evidence: unit economics, retention, customer calls. Then hands their brand to an agency that works entirely on instinct. We built the version of this company that treats brand building with the same rigor: research first, strategy second, creativity in service of both.

AI gives us the speed to do this without the old cost or timeline. It has never been an excuse to skip the thinking.

Solutions

HEADLINE

Solutions built for you.

Social Media Optimization

Your profiles, tuned to actually earn reach, not just post on schedule. We fix what's stopping organic growth: positioning on the profile itself, content rhythm and the engagement patterns platforms reward.

Influencer Marketing

Creator partnerships matched to your category and audience, run both paid and barter. We pick creators whose audience overlaps with your buyer, not whoever has the biggest following.

Performance Marketing

Meta Ads and Google Ads built around a conversion goal, not a vanity metric. Every campaign is structured, tested and optimized against what it actually needs to do: leads, sales or sign ups.

Website Development

Fast websites built to convert, that represent the brand properly instead of just hosting information. Built to move a visitor toward a decision, not just describe the business to them.

Manufacturing Marketing

Marketing built for how manufacturing businesses actually sell. Long consideration cycles, technical buyers and trust built over time. We specialize in this category and understand what actually moves a manufacturing buyer, which most agencies built only for consumer brands don't.

Deep Tech Marketing

For founders building on deep tech and AI who need their product to reach the right audience, not just any audience. Our team takes the time to understand how the product is actually built, so the marketing goes past the surface and speaks credibly to a technical buyer.
